

RedTech
RECRUITMENT PARTNER

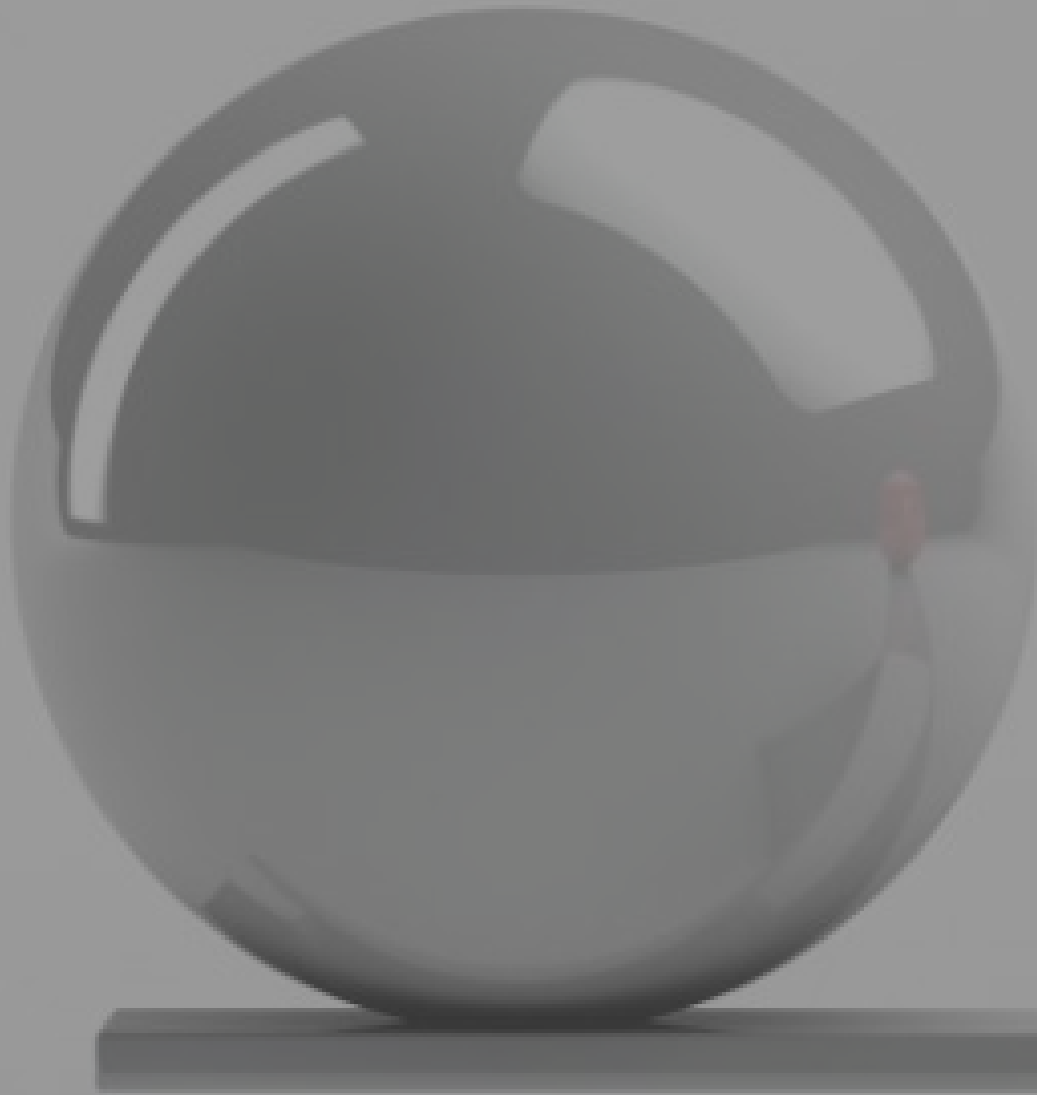

About us

RedTech Recruitment is a specialist technical recruitment company based in Cambridge, aka Silicon Fen. RedTech supports STEM graduates through to post-doc research academics taking their first step into industry.

RedTech was set up by Rebecca Mister and Robert Bull after spending a combined 25 years working in technical recruitment, specifically within the post-academic field.

RedTech are renowned within the Cambridge tech market for securing the best academic talent. As many post-academic candidates will consider roles nationwide, RedTech are extending their reach across the UK. If you are wishing to engage a senior, highly experienced recruitment team, please get in touch today.

Diversity Consultancy

RedTech understand the importance of diversity in tech. It is proven that diverse teams perform better and are more successful.

RedTech Director, Rebecca, has spent 3 years as an ambassador for an initiative encouraging girls to explore careers in STEM. Rebecca has organised events promoting diversity in tech and is passionate about impacting the imbalance.

With our experience and knowledge, we are delighted to offer a free half-day consultancy to any company engaging RedTech's recruitment service.

Being in recruitment, we are in a unique position to make a difference.
